Exploration & Design Phase

After initial contact, client will be provided with a website brief to fill out and links to templates to select a general layout for their website. Website brief elements will include:

- General goals and target audience for the website
- Number of pages & navigation structure
- Website features
- Selected template from links provided
- Overall colour scheme

Population Phase

The client will be responsible for providing all content for the website. This includes:

- Text
- Images & logos
- Contact information & social media links

Population of the website on the selected template will take place within a week of receipt of content.

Revision Phase

Upon presentation of the populated website, the client will have the opportunity to list one round of content and page layout edits.

Only minor edits can be done after this point without incurring additional costs.

Training Phase
